Use

The use class of a rug is based on its change of appearance when subjected to wear and tear.

Class 21 – Domestic use _____ Suited for bedrooms

Class 22 – Domestic use _____ Suited for living rooms, children- and hobby rooms

Class 23 – Domestic use _____ Suited for intensive used living rooms, corridors...

Class 31 – Commercial use _____ Suited for use in hotel rooms

Class 32 – Commercial use _____ Suited for use in offices, stores, class rooms...

Class 33 – Commercial use _____ Suited for use in lobbies, restaurants...

Fire Retardancy

The fire rating goes from A to F, with B being the best possible result a carpet or rug can acquire.

Classes Cfl and Bfl are often suited for public or commercial buildings, but rules vary between countries.

A rug with s1 has a lower smoke emission when on fire.

Class Bfl-s1 – fire retardant carpet

Class Cfl-s1 – fire retardant carpet

Class Dfl-s1 – fire retardant carpet

Class Efl – fire retardant carpet

Luxury classes

Luxury is measured in terms of comfort, measuring how soft it feels underfoot.

Luxury classes range from 1 to 5, a higher class means more comfort.
